

Tutor Fee Guidance

At Kenwood Education, you set your own hourly rate. We add a small margin on top when we invoice the family.

We've put together some guidance below based on experience and qualifications. This is guidance only - you know your own experience best, and the final number is always your choice.

Suggested Rates by Experience

Tier	Which Tutors This Suits	Suggested Rate
Undergraduate	You're currently studying (2nd/3rd year or above) at university, with some tutoring experience and strong personal academic results. You may not yet hold a teaching qualification.	£30–40/hr
Graduate / Experienced	You've graduated, hold a PGCE/QTS or equivalent, or have 2–5 years of genuine 1:1 tutoring or classroom experience.	£40–55/hr
Senior / Advanced	You have 5+ years of sustained teaching or tutoring experience, ideally with some seniority (Head of Department, Head of Year, subject lead) or a long-standing tutoring track record with strong, evidenced outcomes.	£55–70/hr
Specialist / Premium	You hold exceptional, hard-to-replicate credentials — a PhD in your subject, formal examiner status, or a sustained record of placing students into top schools or Oxbridge.	£70–100+/hr

A Note on Setting Your Rate

It's worth bearing in mind that families will choose which tutor to work with partly based on rate, alongside experience and fit. Setting a rate meaningfully above what's typical for your experience level may mean fewer families select you. Equally, undervaluing your experience isn't necessary - families in our area are generally willing to pay well for a tutor who's the right fit for their child.
